MINE WORKERS IN THE FEDERAL COURTS.

Two National Organizers Sentenced to Jail Six Months in Virginia.

VIOLATED RESTRAINING ORDER AND WERE HELD IN CONTEMPT OF COURT.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 29.—The United Mine Workers are making preparations for a bout with the United States Circuit Court of Virginia, and action may be taken next week. A few days ago the Judge of the district sitting at Lynchburg found John Haddow, of Iowa, and W. H. Webber, of Illinois, national organizers of the miners, guilty of contempt of court was that these men had violated an order restraining them from efforts to unionize the miners.

SAYS PECKHAM CAN'T SUCCEED HIMSELF.

John G. Carlisle Said to Have Stated
That the Governor Is Not Eligible for Re-Election.

MAY BE SETTLED BY COURTS.

Frankfort, Ky., April 1.—The question as to Gov. Beckham's eligibility to succeed himself as Governor is to be reopened, according to a statement of a gentleman who has just returned from Washington. Some months ago, when some of Gov. Beckham's friends looked up the question, ex-Chief Justice Pryor and other good lawyers expressed the opinion that, as Beckham was only serving out Goebel's unexpired term, he was undoubtedly eligible for the succeeding full four years' term.

The public accepted the opinion as being correct, and all calculations for the next State convention have been made with Beckham as an eligible candidate for Governor.

It seems, however, that those who oppose Beckham for the Governorship have been investigating the eligibility feature on their own hook, and have consulted several eminent law specialists, one of whom is John G. Carlisle, now of New York. He, it is said, has given a written opinion on the subject, which cites various sections of the constitution and decisions of high courts, and concludes by saying that, in his opinion, Beckham is not eligible to succeed himself.

This opinion is said to be in the possession of a well-known politician, and will be made public at such time as he thinks proper, along with the opinions of others who take the same view.

Just how the question can be finally determined cannot be even guessed at, for it will have to be passed on by the Court of Appeals before it become a finality, and how the test suit will be brought is a knotty question, but it is asserted that a final decision will be brought about in some way.

The news will certainly cause a stir among the politicians, because the question had been looked upon as settled. A lively controversy is looked for and the final decision may be delayed until next year, when it is believed the Court of Appeal will contain a majority of Democrats.—Inquirer.

ART ENTERTAINMENT

Ladies Perfecting Plans and Costumes for Home Talent Tab-leaux and Drills.

DATE CHANGED TO THURSDAY NIGHT

Another rehearsal was held last night by the ladies who will next week produce the Art Entertainment for benefit of our public school fund. The fancy drills are now well in hand and the ranks full. Costumes and decorations are about complete and several dress rehearsals will be gone through before the entertainment is presented next Thursday night.

The tableau vivants are all planned and promise to prove very attractive. The little girls' drill, mentioned last week, by little girls of the public school, under management of Miss Minnie Bourland, is approaching perfection.

The date, which was last week announced for Wednesday night, has for good reasons, been changed to Thursday night, April 10th. Curtain at 8:15 sharp. Remember the date.

This is the first home talent entertainment that has been offered during the season in Earlinton. It will be attractive and enjoyable and is for a most worthy cause. Temple Theater should be packed by Earlinton people who have as yet had no opportunity to do anything for our public schools.

TRAIN DISPATCHER CRAZY.

Forty Years of Work Wears Out Joseph Ehret's Mind.

An Evansville dispatch says: For almost 40 years Joseph Ehret held the lives of thousands on the tips of his fingers every day.

He was a train dispatcher and the silken thread of life of every employee of the road and every traveler who jauntily boarded one of the E. & T. H. trains was wrapped around his nimble fingers.

The false touch of a key, the error of a minute sometimes would have sent hundreds of souls into eternity. But the false touch was never made, the one little awful moment of neglect or forgetfulness that harrows the lives of so many train dispatchers, was never made by Joseph Ehret.

Year in and year out he was always the same methodical, prompt, active and attentive man. His life was centered around the little telegraph key on his desk, which controlled a railroad system.

There is another man at the key to day. The trains run just the same, there is no stop or hitch in the working of the system. Another man, just as good and just as attentive to his duty as Ehret was, has wrapped his life around the little ticker that holds the balance for so many lives.

Ehret will never sit at his favorite place again. He is a wreck, physically and mentally. Last night the police were asked to locate him and hold him at headquarters until some provision for his entrance to an institution could be made. He wandered away from his boarding house, 14 Upper Seventh street. The strain that had been wearing on his nerves and muscles and brain for almost half a century overthrew his reason.—Inquirer.

Don't make the mistake of supposing you are the only one in the world who is fighting "the good fight." There are others.

DOWN IN THE MINES.

It should indeed be a warning to our young miners when they review the history of some young men who were once contented and prosperous miners, but who were beguiled by the deceitful tales told them by the U. M. W. agitators and led into an organization who's influence had led them from the path of right and justice to that of degradation, until we are informed, they are refugees from justice, hiding in one state and another, pursued by officers of the law armed with warrants of arrest, charging them with crimes. One of these told the police he was last week arrested in one of our neighboring states and brought back to Kentucky to answer the charge of murder which the influence of bad advisers and advisers led him to commit. If the charge is true as made. And this is only the natural result likely to follow the association with an organization some of whom have the past year been instrumental in the destruction of the integrity of our country.

Foreman Caviness and other machinists were employed last week for a day or so putting in a new fire box on one of the mine engines. Mr. Caviness is expecting a call to Dawson soon to do some important work.

Mr. J. B. Atkinson, President of the St. Bernard Mining Co., returned last week from the east where he had been called upon the sad misfortune attending the funeral of a relative.

Two important meetings will command the attention of Agitator Wood next week. One will be the execution of the U. M. W. at Indianapolis and the other will be held by Judge Davis and before whom Wood will appear on the charge of conspiracy to murder both meetings occurring on the same date. Business is pressing with him.

Another of the suspected murderers of Officer Coffey was arrested last week in Indiana and lodged safe in the Christian county jail. Thus far about half a dozen suspects, all of whom claim membership with the union miners, have been arrested, and hopes are entertained that the guilty ones have been caught and they will be made to pay the penalty of the law.

Sergeant Bradley, of the Reinske Coal Company, made the Knights Templar Lodge here a pleasant visit one night last week.

Another poor dupe who up at Barnesley has been making an average of about sixty dollars per month working for the St. Bernard Co., last week joined the U. M. W. and hereafter will have to be content with about one fifth of the amount above named.

Why should the union miner, who in this country has long ago ceased to be a laborer, so strongly advocate the eight-hour law? We believe their record for the past year would not average an hour per day, so why don't they call on the one hour per day law?

When young men who are able-bodied lay around and subsist upon rations or a few cents daily, how do they expect to lay by a dollar a day when one of them is sick?

The day upon which a strike was said to have been called by the managers of the coal companies in and around Central City surrendered all rights and agreed to the scale proposed by the Mine Workers, has, we understand, been postponed for a month; at the end of that time it is believed that a complete breakdown by the Mine Workers will take place and the old scale will be agreed to.

Rumor says that the operators of Southern Indiana contemplate shutting down their mines soon on account of failure to run with profit, and this is an example of what the miners have come to expect from the management of their mines.

Mr. Richard Metzger, who is said to be one of the oldest miners in this country, after his home was one of the main landmarks in New Mine named. At que time he was very popular here.

CAUGHT IN ILLINOIS.

Man Under Murder Indictment Placed in Jail at Hopkinsville.

Guy Reynolds, under indictment jointly with Jim Will Anderson, charged with the murder of Deputy Sheriff Robt. H. Coffey, was arrested in Illinois and taken to Hopkinsville Saturday afternoon and placed in jail. Reynolds' home is in Hopkinsville Saturday afternoon and placed in jail. Reynolds' home is in Hopkinsville, near White Plains. He was captured by a special agent of the L. & N. railroad company.

Mrs. Ella Hawkins, who for some time past has been bookkeeper for the firm of J. M. Victory & Co., has joined her husband in Kansas City, Mo., where he is employed in a power house. We trust they may be successful and contented in their new home.

as a miner and still has a host of friends who were pained during the last few years to see him listen to the teachings of the labor leaders and connect himself with the U. M. W. of which he was a member when death came. With all his faults he was considered a man of grand qualities and an expert miner.

John Peyton, who has been assisting to construct a trestle at the South Diamond mine, was called home last week on account of sickness in his family.

Foreman Caviness and other machinists were employed last week for a day or so putting in a new fire box on one of the mine engines. Mr. Caviness is expecting a call to Dawson soon to do some important work.

All men, both young and old, who failed to hear Prof. R. B. Shacklett, of Madisonville, talk at the Y. M. C. A. meeting at the Christian church at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, missed both an intellectual and spiritual treat. His talk showed deep research and intelligent study of the subject, and was greatly enjoyed by those present. Arrangements will be made to have him here again to a mass meeting at no far distant date, and all who miss the lecture will regret it. Remember the Y. M. C. A. meeting at the M. E. Church, South, at 2 o'clock next Sunday afternoon, Mr. W. F. Burr leader.

Woman Suffrage in St. Thomas.

In view of the discussion concerning the purchase by the United States of the Danish island of St. Thomas in the West Indies, it is interesting to note that leading men of Denmark have addressed the King, Ministers and Parliament, in a confidential and earnest petition, urging that no decision concerning the sale of the Island shall be made until the people of the Island shall have expressed their desire by popular vote. The women suffragists of Denmark have co-operated with the promoters of this movement, and have secured a large number of signatures of prominent women in the kingdom.

A proposition so just should meet the unanimous approval of all fair-minded men and women in the United States. The cooperation of Denmark in securing the opinion of the men and women of St. Thomas before completing the purchase, would be far more in harmony with up-to-date democratic ideas than the imperialistic policies which have obtained in past centuries, and which are yet much in evidence. The United States is based distinctly upon the proposition of self-government, and surely the simplest form of self-government should be that by which a people will express their choice of Nations to which they are willing to become dependent.

Tallest Man on Earth.

Dame Nature has apparently outdone herself in Edward Beaupre, the young French-Canadian giant who bids fair to outrival the famous one-eyed giant Polyphemus, of Homer's time, while he overtops by several feet modern competitors.

Baupre, therefore, enjoys the proud distinction of being the tallest man on earth. He is thirty years old, tips the scales at 387 pounds and stands ten feet eleven inches high, his hands measuring nineteen inches, and his feet twenty-four inches by twelve wide. A two-yard tape measure barely encircles his chest.

Each of his trousers legs can contain the figures of two ordinary persons, and there is sufficient cloth in one of his suits to outfit six average men. The massive framework of each of his outstretched arms will bear the weight of three athletes. A man five feet ten inches by his side appears a mere pygmy.

One of the peculiarities about Beaupre is that his father and mother were of ordinary size. From youth he has been a great gymnast and has given much time to athletic sport.—New York Herald.

Russell Sage's Subscription.

Uncle Russell Sage has not been a bull since he sold his securities too low. Probably if something would knock the market off twenty or thirty points he would drag a few millions out of the Chemical, buy some good stocks "cheap" and become a bull. Meanwhile he is saving up a few pennies for such a turn. A subscription list was passed around, where the subscribers were all promising anything from $2,000 down. Mrs. Sage was on the list for $100. When the list was handed to Uncle Russell he sat down with his pen, ready to add something. When he handed back the list

"Mrs. Russell, $100" had one cipher scratched out, and it read, "Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sage, $10."—New York Press.

SHORT LOCALS.

Miss Garnett Lindle entertained a host of her little friends recently by celebrating her eleventh birthday. Delightful refreshments were served and the little folks had a most enjoyable time.

A horse belonging to the Madisonville stable was found to be sick here Sunday and has since been at Barnet & Arnold's stable. We understand hard driving was the cause, and there is little chance for recovery.

Mike Long, the up-to-date baker and confectioner, has just received a ten gallon freezer to be run by machinery. He also has a two horse power gasoline engine fitted up and will, in addition to running his fans and ice cream freezer, run a five gallon can for sherbet this summer.

Barlow & Wilson played Tuesday night to a good house and the audience seemed to enjoy the performance. There are good things about this show and some that are not so good. The two songs, "I've a Longing in My Heart for You, Louise," and "Hello, Central, Give Me Heavy," were sung and illustrated with moving pictures and they made up for all else that was lacking in the performance.

Small Sized Scrap.

A small scrap occurred last night between Mart Long, Andy Brown and Henry Sweeney. Sweeney was at the residence of Mrs. Egloff for dinner. It is stated that Brown and Brown went there and called for him. Mrs. Egloff said that she did not think he was there, but they insisted he was and pushed in the house. By this time Sweeney was coming down stairs and before he reached the bottom one of the men grabbed him in the collar and jerked him to the floor, when both jumped on him and proceeded to beat him a severe beating. Both came to his assistance and finally got them separated. The trouble is said to have originated at Dyvel's store yesterday evening, cause known not.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR

Both St. Bernard and Madisonville Commanderies Have Inspection and Work.

SIR JOHN H. FENWICK INSPECTING OFFICER.

Interchange of Courtesies Between the Neighbor Commanderies.

Last week was an active time for the Knights Templar of Hopkins county and both commanderies, the St. Bernard of Earlington, and Madisonville Commandery, were in their mortal and each vied with the other in the interchange of Knightly courtesies.

The occasion was that of the annual inspection of these two Commanderies by the representative of the Grand Commandery of Kentucky, Col. Thos. J. Smith, of Bowling Green, Grand Captain General, was named as inspecting officer but was ill and, being unable to make the visit, sent in his stead Sir John H. Fenwick, a former citizen of Earlington and a veteran Mason.

On Thursday night of last week nine of the Earlington Sir Knights were present at the excellent work and delightful banquet at the inspection of Madisonville Commandery. On Friday night the number of Madisonville Sir Knights returned the compliment and were guests of St. Bernard Commandery.

The banquet which was spread on the stage of Temple Theater was prepared by Mrs. Paul M. Moore, wife of Commander Paul M. Moore, of the Baby Commandery, assisted by Miss Celeste A. Moore. Music and flowers adorned the board at which forty Sir Knights refreshed themselves. The Madisonville Orchestra supplied the music.

Both Commanderies have more work in sight before the annual conclave.

He kept the learned scientists weeping, laughing and thinking, as their fellow scientist talked. The humorist is a great success as a scientist, and as Prof. Britton adjoined the great audience of learned professors, they all said, he will bear Perkins next year in Cleveland.

The band began to play. The Chairman tried in vain to stop the music. McCreary's lips were moving and his arms were gesturing, but the sound of his voice could not be heard. Finally he took his seat. Then, and not until then, did the perusing musicians subside.

"Now will you speak again?" asked the Chairman of the meeting, when quiet was restored.

"No, indeed," replied McCreary, "I have really said all that I can say upon this subject."

Mailed by Telegraph.

Some years ago Miss Lizzie Hummons, of this city, was married to Mr. Wheeler, a soldier in the Spanish war, by telegraph. Other marriages have since been consummated by telephone. Legally, we suppose these marriages are good, but from a personal standpoint they are objectionable. The distance is too great.—Winchester Sentinel.

"It is with heartfelt gratitude that I send this testimonial to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I am a member of the Masonic Lodge and oddfellow, writes Mr. Willis Seaman, of Washington, Orange Co., N. Y. I have been a patient of Dr. Pierce's for a number of years and consider him the best physician I ever had. His treatment has been most successful and I am grateful to him for his skill and care. I am now in full health and strength again. I have recommended him to many others and they have all been equally satisfied with his treatment."

NEW HEAD OF NAVY

MASSACHUSETTS MAN WHO LOOKS LIKE THE PRESIDENT.

Why William H. Moody Was Selected For His Office—Noted For Perniciousness and Honesty of Purpose, Personal Characteristics.

The new secretary of the navy, William H. Moody, singularly resembles President Roosevelt both in appearance and in mannerisms. Mr. Moody is not quite so tall as the president, nor does he wear glasses; but, like him, he is athletically inclined. He has, however, the same explosive style of talking and the quick, nervous habit of cutting off his words. Indeed he has frequently been pointed out in the house of representatives as President Roosevelt's double.

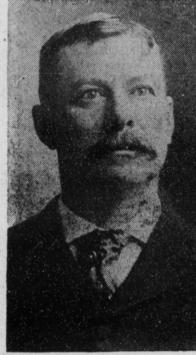

In selecting Mr. Moody to succeed John D. Long, the president, it is said, was actuated by several motives. One is that he has the highest opinion of Mr. Moody's abilities and personal qualities. Another is that he personal feels that he is a safe counselor. Another is that he has a personal liking for him. The two men have a great deal in common. They have similar taste in books, in music, and think alike on many questions.

Another good reason for the selection is that Mr. Moody is one of the most popular men in the house. In the cabinet he has the best working links with the executive and with the various branches of the government. The present cabinet is handicapped in that there is no man in it who has seen service in either branch of congress, which is rather a disadvantage.

William H. Moody was born in Newbury, Mass., forty-nine years ago and is therefore five years older than the president. He was graduated from Harvard in 1878, the year that Roosevelt entered the university.

After Mr. Moody left college he settled in Haverhill, Mass., and began the practice of law. By hard work and close application to his profession he became one of the foremost criminal lawyers in New England. In fact, one of the secrets of Mr. Moody's success in whatever he has undertaken has been hard and persistent work.

From 1890 until 1895 he was district attorney for the eastern district of

WILLIAM H. MOODY.

Massachusetts. During this period Mr. Moody added to his reputation by his work as assistant prosecutor of Lizzie Borden in the famous Fall River murder trial. Although the trial was not in his district, his services were secured to assist in the prosecution.

Mr. Moody first went to congress to fill a vacancy caused by the death of George Cogswell of Maine. Speaker Reed took a great fancy to him and encouraged him by an appointment to the important appropriations committee and for the last three congresses Mr. Moody has taken a prominent part in the legislation of the House of Representatives of the nation, the experience familiarizing him with all the details of the federal government. In this capacity he has paid particular attention to naval affairs. Two years ago in the debate on an appropriation for hydrographic surveys he opposed the detachment of naval officers for survey work, but eventually supported ocean surveys by naval vessels on their regular cruises, and it was he who secured the passage of a bill on an upgrade of admiral of Dewey.

For the last four sessions of congress Mr. Moody has been a member of the powerful Appropriations Committee and has taken great interest in its work. He is regarded as one of the strongest members of the house. His committee assignments place him in direct touch with all great naval and military men, and his frank, open, and scholarly attainments, his ability of concise statement, easy and pleasant address and well modulated voice, makes him one of the most entertaining of speakers.

It has been a custom while in Washington to occupy quarters jointly with Representative Gillett of Massachusetts, who is his closest friend.

In Washington Mr. Moody has made an enviable record as an indefatigable and brilliant speaker, while his popularity and renown are very great. His vigor, clear headedness, fearlessness and honesty are among the prominent characteristics that attracted the president's admiration. He has not hesitated to denounce from the floor of the house the most flagrant wrongs which he thought was wrong. He believes in the civil service law and has been one of its foremost champions.

Wiley Church Waitress Caused a Shock.

The Methodist women of Norwich, N. Y., caused a sensation by advertising an oyster supper and announcing as the special feature of the entertainment that all women who waited on the table would wear bloomers. The staid matrons of the denomination were inexpressibly shocked, and tickets for the supper were at a premium. Before the doors were opened more tickets were sold than the church could accommodate. There was a rush for the tables, and then it was seen the smiling waitresses were in ordinary garb, and that the bloomers consisted of roses pinned in their belts.

How it Happened.

"It was kinder funny—that is overlookin' the seriousness of it," said the landlord of the Pettyville tavern. "You see, Miss Gabriella Lanks, who hasn't meanin' any disrespect to her, you understand—been an old maid so long that it's generally believed to be chronic, approached the railroad crossin' and a brakeman waved a red flag at her to warn her of the danger. She thought he was tryin' to flirt with her, and advanced toward him with a smile; and a caboose that was backin' up struck her good and plenty. Luckily, no bones were broken; and the first thing she said when she recovered consciousness was: 'Oh, this is so sudden!'" April Smart Set.

FIFTY-SEVENTH CONGRESS.

In the session on the 27th, discussion of the oleomargarine bill occupied nearly the whole day. Senator Tammie was supported, and Mr. Quarles (Wis.) denounced the bill as being unconstitutional and a violation of the liberal rules of the senate. Senator Tammie, however, maintained that Gen. Fusion captured Agudinado.... In the house, Mr. Richardson (Conn.) charged of corrupt use of a fund of $250,000 in West India Islands, contained in the alleged report of the secretary of the treasury, given to the Danish government, which declared that the money was given to the king to bring the negotiation for the vote to a consummation. Richardson also introduced a resolution for the appointment of a committee of investigation, which after a short debate was agreed to.

The senate was not in session on the 28th.... In the house the day was devoted to the passage of private pension bills. Bill to increase the pension of the widow of a number of minor bills were passed. The annual pension bill was introduced and, and Mr. Cannon gave notice that he would give it his support. The bill was referred to the committee with regard to the veto of bills to remove the charge of corruption from the report of the secretary of the treasury. The report was the subject of considerable discussion during the day.

In the senate, on the 30th, the entire day was occupied in the consideration of the oleomargarine bill, three set species being introduced. Senator Tammie (Conn.) and others (N. C.) made a forceful argument against the bill, while Senator Tammie (Vt.) and McCumber (N. D.) delivering strong speeches in advocacy of the bill. The bill to appropriate money for the construction of the sundry civil appropriation bill was begun, 89 of the 19 pages of the bill having been read. The bill was successfully resisted, as a result of the opposition of Mr. Cannon, chairman of the appropriations committee. The proceedings were without incident.

THE ORVILLE LYONS MURDER.

Testimony of a Witness Who was Four Years Old When Crime was Committed.

Ava, Mo., April 1.—In the trial here of James Wilson, charged with the murder in 1900 of Orville Lyons, a neighboring farmer, the taking of testimony was begun yesterday. W. R. Lyons, son of the deceased, testified that he was four years old at the time of the murder. He said that his father was home when the robbers came, heard a gunshot and saw his father dead; he also saw the men leave.

T. H. Andrews testified that he had a talk with Wilson regarding the killing of Lyons. The defense is trying to prove that Wilson's connection with the murder is a case of mistaken identity.

SHORT LOCALS.

Rev. J. D. Walsh will preach at the M. E. church Friday night, April 4. All are cordially invited to attend.

Don't forget what was said in last week's issue about cleaning up your premises. It is very essential to your health and the health of the town.

Will Latson has bought a lot in Dawson and is erecting a job house on it. He expects to engage in the mercantile business there in the future.

The handsome new M. E. Church, St. was formally opened at Madisonville last Sunday and quite a number of Earlinton people attended.

The work on C. H. McCarty's new house has been started and will be pushed as rapidly as possible. Charlie wishes to be able to move in by the first of June.

Barnett & Arnold have purchased Kickett Todd's blacksmith shop and will combine it with the ones they now own. This will give them one of the best shop stands in Earlinton.

Some of our citizens are preparing their gardens and others have already planted a few early seeds. If any of these seed happen to sprout this kind of weather it will be necessary to cover them with a blanket.

Tom Porter and Albert Keown went to visiting Temple. They put in half a day, walked several or eight miles through the raw wind and returned at night footsore and weary, with an English sparrow and two crows.

Ell Perkins the well known humorist arrived in the city Wednesday evening and will entertain the Earlinton public at Temple Theatre tonight with his famous lecture "Stories around the Stove."

We have in this issue an ad from Bishop & Co., an old reliable and well known firm of Madisonville, also one for the Hurwitz Clothing Store and will in the next issue begin one for Dulin & McLeod and several other firms of that town. These merchants evidently know the value of THE BEE as an advertising medium and are taking advantage of it.

Cantus.

This is not a gentle word—but when you think how liable you are to be put out of your bed by a remedy—university known, and a remedy that has had the largest sale of any medicine in the world since the time for the cure of Consumption and Throat and Lung troubles without losing its great popularity in these years, you will readily call it to your attention to Boschée's German Syrup. There are so many ordinary cough remedies made by druggists and apothecaries that are good for light colds perhaps, but for severe Coughs, Bronchitis, Croup—and especially for Consumption where there is continual expectoration coughing during the nights and morning, there is nothing like German Syrup. See all drugists in Madisonville world.

AMUSEMENTS.

"Sweet Claver" at Morton's opera house, Madisonville, Tuesday night, has been set down as perhaps the most excellent of the many choice attractions Mr. Morton has presented during the present season. The attraction was heralded in advance as one of high rank and the people filled the house comfortably to their own great pleasure. Miss Thurston in the leading role was inspiringly beautiful, and her acting was superb. Her support seemed to lack nothing either. Mr. Morton will next season probably put on fewer attractions and present only those of the highest class that his patronage will permit.

Quo Vadis was an agreeable surprise to Earlinton theatregoers and the packed house to which the play was moved left the Temple theatre well pleased. Being a distinctly spectacular play in its original form it seemed really remarkable that a few good players could give so creditable a production. It was well done.

Remember the Art Entertainment of Tableaux Vivants, fancy drills, etc., preparation by the ladies of Earlinton, the leading attractions Temple theatre next week. Full notice in another column.

Y. M. C. A. at Dawson.

Next Sunday will be Young Men's Sunday at Dawson. John Lake, of Louisville, and R. B. Ashby, I. Baller and T. C. This is good work and aids materially in the building of any place. Every town that has a live, energetic Y. M. C. A. is in a live, progressive way. Don't fail to attend, Dawsonians, as you will regret it if you do.

And takes a bad cold in his chest—
Then it's spring.

When the geese begin to nest,
When the frogs wake from their rest
And each one croaks his very best—
Then it's spring.

When the horse begins to shed,
When pigs tear up their bed,
When the gardeners tools turn red—
Then it's spring.

When the farmers plows the ground,
When the leaves circle the 'round
And the cows cannot be found—
Then it's spring.

When the small boy grabs a pole,
Hies him to the fishing hole
And returns with a bad cold—
Then it's spring.

When the fish begin to bite
And the bugs to fly at night
And the roaster wants to fight—
Then it's spring.

When the chicks begin to peep,
When the farmer shears his sheep,
When the sweet milk fails to keep—
Then it's spring.

When we don our lighter clothes,
And maidens wear dropstitch hose
And go angling for beau's—
Then it's spring.

HOW PATRICK FOOL'D 'EM.

The Man Convicted of Planning William Marsh Rice's Murder Married.

'TWAS DONE RIGHT IN THE TOMBS PRISON

A Contract Duty Entered Into in the Presence of Witnesses and Signed in Duplicate That Is Good Under the New York Law Enacted About a Year Ago.

New York, April 1.—Albert T. Patrick, who was convicted Wednesday last of the murder of William M. Rice, and Mrs. Addie M. Francis, with whom Patrick boarded up to the time of his arrest, were married in the Tombs Sunday. The couple, who had been engaged in accordance with a law passed by the legislature of this state in 1901, providing for the legalizing of contract marriages, entered into before two witnesses. The law directs that such contracts shall be valid from the moment after its execution in the office of the clerk of the town or city in which the marriage took place.

The legal witnesses to the ceremony were Patrick's father and his sister, Mrs. John Patrick. Other guests were Patrick's little daughter and Samuel B. Hayes, an attorney who was called in as Mrs. Francis' legal adviser.

Samuel B. Thomas, attorney for plaintiffs, made the following statement:

"As counsel of Mrs. Francis, I advised her that the contract marriage was absolutely valid and binding. Mrs. Francis had been engaged to Mr. Patrick since 1898. It was then intended to have the ceremony on the charge of murdering Mrs. Olin Castle, her rival, surrendered to the sheriff, yesterday, and was placed in the cell she occupied several months previous to her marriage with Mr. Patrick. In it is said, have no trouble in furnishing a new bond, the amount of which will be fixed when the court meets to-day."

THREE PERSONS KILLED.

They Were Run Down By a Coal Pacific Train While Riding Home From a Dance.

Topeka, Kas., April 2.—A special to the State Journal from St. Mary's Kas., says:

Fred Smith, Edward Smith and Miss Minnie Mainey were instantly killed when Fred Smith perhaps fatally injured, shortly after 1 o'clock Tuesday morning, at about Bond's crossing, two miles west of Rossville, by the Union Pacific passenger train No. 3, westbound.

Mrs. Mainey was riding home less than a week, having been married Saturday, and Miss Minnie Mainey was to have been married next Sunday to Edward Smith, one of the unfortunate men.

The young people had been to St. Mary's to attend a Woodmen's dance, and were returning home when the accident occurred.

Arrangements were so perfectly made, so secretly planned, and so cleverly executed that not until the marriage was irrevocably complete were Patrick's guards cognizant that it was ever intended.

The damage is estimated at a quarter of a million dollars. It is reported that two lives were lost and many others are exposed to have been drowned. It is estimated that from 40 to 50 houses at Oakdale and Harriman were washed away. The tunnel at Junction, on the Cincinnati Southern railway, fell into the stream. The Vestal Lamp Co., was destroyed, the Hoe and Tool Co., was badly damaged, the planing mill is wrecked and the tanners suffered heavily. The floating bridge, houses and debris knocked down a part of the bridge and washed it away. The loss to Harriman is terrible.

The young people had been to St. Mary's to attend a Woodmen's dance, and were returning home when the accident occurred.

Nearly a Million Dollars.

Heavy Losses in Roan and Morgan Counties—All Not Known.

Knoxville, Tenn., March 31.—Loss by the flood which sweeps Emory valley, Saturday, may run nearly a million dollars. Both Roan and Morgan counties have the full story known. The flooded section of Harriman presented a desolate appearance to-day.

The majority of the homes are housed in the gymnasium of the Tennessee University.

A GRAVE SITUATION.

Twenty-Two Lives Are Known to Have Been Lost.

Nashville, Tenn., March 31.—Reports from the flooded districts of Tennessee emphasize the gravity of the situation. The damage resulting it is believed will reach $4,000,000, while 22 lives are known to be lost.

Some 200 persons are yet cut off from communication, an loss in property and life may go higher than these figures.

The Louisville & Nashville railroad is running a few trains from Murfreesboro to Murfreesboro, while the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis has only succeeded in getting through to Murfreesboro.

The section visited by the flood spans out of the rich portions of the state, and damage to farm lands is a serious item. It includes counties lying between the mountains on the east and the Tennessee river and the Alabama line. Some fences that had stood for years were washed away in many of the swollen rivers of Lincoln county and crops destroyed.

The bridge of the Nashville & Chattanooga railroad at Lancaster, a 300-foot span, failed to hold and cost $100,000 to repair.

It was predicted at Carthage that the Cumberland would go beyond the flood tide of 1852. If such be the case the world of destruction is not yet over.

There is no communication with Linden, in Perry county, or with Lynchburg in Moore, but both sections are believed to be seriously damaged. From figures available the following fatalities are given:

Pauline H. Hargrove, 20, Mrs. Sarah Phillips, John Cole, wife and two children; Slick White, wife and two children, all colored, and negro baby.

Lewisburg, 3—Anna Robinson's two children and Joe McCellan; all colored.

Murfreesboro—Womans (a girl), colored.

"What is it that causes the saltiness of the ocean?" asked a teacher. "It's codfish," said a little girl.

A teacher was explaining to a little girl how the trees developed their foliage in the springtime. "Ah, yes," said the little miss. "I understand; they keep their summer clothes in their trunks."

"Bro' Williams," interrupted an old brother in the aman corner, "you is givin' out a text dar wid o' Bible upside down."

"Yes," replied the person, "en dat we do way you'll be of it. I understand; they keep me one mo' time."

"We the weather of Hong Kong are newly established the company and engaged the business. Contrary to our opposite company we will most cleanly and carefully wash our customers with possible cheap prices. With your wages we will be able to pay the rent."

"Children," said the teacher, while instructing the class in composition, "you should not attempt any flights of fancy, but simply be yourselves, and what is in you. Do not imitate any other person's writings or draw inspiration from outside sources."

As a result of this advice, Johnny Wink turned in the following composition:

"We should not attempt any flights of fancy, but rite what is in us. In me there is my stummkim, lungs, hart, liver, two apples, one piece of pie, two stick lemon candy, and my dinner."

A teacher in a Texas public school received the following letter a short time ago:

"Sir: Will you in the future give my son easier some to do at nites? This is what he's brought hoam two or three nites back: 'If fore gallins of bee will fill thirty pint bottles, how many plain bottles does it take to fill a dozen of bees full?' Well, he tried and could make nothin' of it at all, and my boy cried and laughed and said he didn't dare to go back in the mornin' without doin' it. So I had to go and buy a nine gallin keg of bee, which I could ill afford to do, and then he went and borrowed a lot of wine and brandy bottles. We fill them, and my boy put the number down for an answer. I don't know whether it is right or not, as we split some while doin' it." P. S.

Please let the next some be in water, as I am not able to buy more."

A PRAYER.

JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY.

I crave, dear Lord,

No boundless hoard;

Of gold and gear;

Or jewels fine;

Or robes of kin;

Or treasure-huts of anything.

Let but a little be mine,

Where at the heartsteones I may hear the cricket sing,

And have the shine

Of one glad woman's eyes to make,

For my poor sake,

Our simple home a place divine—

Just the wee cot—the cricket's chirr-

Love, and the smiling face of her.

I pray not for

Great riches, nor

For vast estates, and castle-halls—

For gold to bear the baby's head;

And pray These, may

The door stand open and the day

Send over in a gentle breeze,

With fragrance from the locust

trees,

And drowsy moan of doves, and blur

Of robin-chirps, and drone of bees,

With after-husks of the stir

Of intermingling sounds, and then

The goodwife and the smile of her,

Filling the silences again—

The cricket's call,

And the wee cot,

Dear Lord of all,

Deny me not.

I pray tremble at

My power of place

And lordly sway—

I only pray for simple grace

To fill the tanned face

Ful' honestly from day to day—

Yield me his horny palm to hold,

And I'll not pray

For the tanned face, garlanded with irth,

It hath the brightest smile on earth—

The sweet brow, dimpled with sweat,

Health never need for coronet,

Dear Lord, to Thee,

And be beseach,

Thou givest me

The wee cot, and the cricket's chirr-

Love, and the glad, sweet smile of her."

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

LESSON I, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, APRIL 6.

Text of the Lesson. Acts ix, 1-26.
Text. Verses 1-5—Golden Text.
Acts III, 19—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Copyright, 1902, by American Press Association.]

1. Saul yet breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord.

What an evil breath he had! The word translated "breathing out" is used here only to breathe, to live. His very life was to hate Christ and Christians, and yet the time came when he could truly say, "For me to live is Christ" (Phil. i, 21). Our first introduction to him is when he is at Es. viii, 5, in connection with the death of Stephen and the persecution following, which at this time was still going on. Saul's own account of his life in those days is found in chapters xxii, 3, 4; xxvi, 9-11; Gal. 1, 13, 14, and in Eph. ii, 1-3; he speaks of it all as being under the prince of the power of the air.

3. 4. Saul, Saul, why persecute thou me?

Thus spake Jesus of Nazareth to him in the garden of Gethsemane, 14, and arrested him in his mad career, for God had determined concerning him, "Hitherto shall thou come, but no further" (John xxxviii, 11). Whoever speaks a Christian language, Christ himself, but not even the devil can go on after Saul beyond God's permission (Job i, 10; Dan. iv, 35; Zech. ii, 8). Though it was midday, this light from heaven was above the brightness of the sun, and Saul could not see for the glory of that light (xxvi, 13; xxii, 11). 5. 6. 7. 8. 9. 10. 11. 12. I am Jesus, whom thou persecuted.

He recognizes a superior and asks, "Who art thou, Lord?" The answer fills him with tremor and shuddering, for Jesus of Nazareth is actually speaking, seeing Him to be indeed the Christ, the Messiah, whom the prophets had foretold, he at once acknowledges him as Lord and meekly asks what he is to do. This suddenly makes all Israel as nation be surprised some day, and, looking upon Him whom they pierced, they shall be filled with true penitence and accepting Him as their long expected Messiah, shall say: "Lo, this is our King! We have waited for him long." He will save us (Zech. xii, 10; Isa. xxi, 9). Saul's conversion was a pattern or type of the conversion of the nation (Tim. i, 16).

7-9. After three days without sight and neither did eat nor drink, Saul

The men who were with him fell to the earth, seeing the light and being afraid. They also heard the voice of some one speaking, but did not hear the words for they were for Saul only. Compare xxix, 9; xxi, 14. It was something like the experience of Daniel and our Lord as recorded in Dan. x, 7; John xi, 28, 29. That Saul really saw Jesus is evident from verse 17 and I Cor. xv, 8. What Jesus said to Saul is as follows: "Saul, Saul, to whom thou standest upon his feet is fully stated in Paul's testimony before Agrippa in xxvi, 16-18. Consider him three days blind and fasting, the world shut out, the body mortified, dying to self, God dealing with the soul. It is the period of deepest preceding regeneration (Gen. xxi, 4; xlii, 17; Jonah ii, 17; Hos. vi, 2; John iii, 15; Rev. xi, 11).

10-11. Inquire in the house of Judas for one called Saul of Tarsus, for, behold, he prayeth.

Those said the Lord to Annasias, a devout disciple and one who had a good report of all the Jews at Damascus (xxii, 12). He, like Philip in a previous lesson, is mentioned only because one on whom the Lord could rely to do His bidding. His reply reminds us of Samuel and Isaiah (I Sam. iii, 4, 6, 8, 10; Isa. vi, 8). These three days find Saul and his Lord in intimate communion. Saul takes up the task of the Lord and the Lord's vision reveals Himself more fully to Saul. From Jesus Christ by revelation he received the gospel and from Him all his future instruction (Gal. i, 11, 12, 15, 10).

12-13. Saul is a chosen vessel unto me to bear my name.

Ananias hesitates just a little as he thinks of Saul's reputation and authority and his madness against Christians. The Lord graciously bears with his weakness and gently repeats His command to go and assures him that Saul is to be His special messenger to the gentiles. One would think that the Lord's first assurance to Annasias that the persecutor was praying might have been sufficient argument, but we are also to expect wonders from Him whose name is Wonderful. Saul is not only chosen to bear the name of Christ, but also to suffer, for faithfulness to Christ and suffering for His sake are inseparably connected. The world is given over to the wicked whole world lieth in the wicked one (Gal. i, 4; 1 John v, 19, R. V.). See also John xv, 18, 19; xvi, 37; Phil. i, 20; II Tim. ii, 12, 13, 12, but be encouraged by Rom. viii, 18; I Cor. x, 15.

14-19. Receive thy sight and be filled with the Holy Ghost.

Thus said Annasias to Saul as, having found him just where the Lord said he would, he put his hands upon him and said of the Lord's commandment: He received that, both natural and spiritual, confessed Christ in baptism, took food for the body and was strengthened and immediately preached in the synagogues that Jesus of Nazareth is the Christ, the Son of God. Old things are past; all things are new now, the Spirit has clothed Himself with Saul (Judg. vi, 34, R. V., margin) and now henceforth he does but one thing, knows but one Master, and for Him is ready to lay down his life.

OUR COLORED CITIZENS.

The wife of J. H. Gough was very ill last week, but is much better now. The wife of Robert Williams is yet confined to bed.

Trustee Wm. Killibrew was ill several days last week, but is out again.

L. B. McCreary, who has just completed her school at Dalton, stopped over enroute to her home, Columbia, Tenn., the guest of the wife of Harrison Amos.

Wm. McGary has a new house, a new baby and a new horse.

C. Nure and Jas. Dunlap spent Easter in Princeton, Ind. They report a pleasant, snowy time.

Among the Churches.

Next Sunday is rainy day. The pastor, Rev. S. P. Tandy, and members of C. M. E. Church will make an effort to collect for the completion of their church. They have done well, and there is but a small membership and they should be encouraged.

The minister exercises at A. M. E. Zion church, well attended. Collection $11.40 for the day. Easter offering $9. Roxie Watson won first prize for raising most money by soliciting and Lizzie Gough second prize.

A preacher said if the Earlington people will give half of the money they spent at Madisonville every pay day and at the theatre it would put all the churches in splendid order. I offer an amendment to the statement. The money spent for whiskey and tobacco, which destroy soul and body, would build handsome stone churches and furnish them with the best furniture, heat them with steam and light them with electricity. The money spent for dead birds, silks, embroidery, laces and broads worn by Christian women would build handsome brick school houses, furnish them with all the moderate apparatus and a good sum left. Are you ready for the question?

If Christ came to Earlington He would find good churches, the members well dressed, splendid music, but few if any real conversions and no seekers.

He would find the prayer meeting seats vacant, and especially if there be any amusement in town.

He would find many professors but few possessors of true religion.

He would find much being done to comfort the body, but little for the soul.

He would find great plans to dignify this short life, but few plans to dignify the life to come.

We hope He will not come on evening.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic for Week Beginning April 6.
Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.
Closes—Gathering in April, Feb. 15, 11:1 P. M.; Eng. 15-16.

The word grace has two meanings in the Scriptures. First, the free and unmerited favor by which God saves us.

"By grace are ye saved through faith and that not of yourselves; it is the gift of God." Second, grace refers to "the blessings of the Spirit wrought in the heart" and manifested life of the believer. The word as used in the topical reference has the latter meaning.

To grow in grace, we must be growing in the graces which under the blessing of the Spirit come to make the Christian character all that it ought to be.

The duty of Christian growth is frequently emphasized in the Scriptures. Christ commands us to say, "If we grow in grace and advancement in the Christian life, Paul eloquently pleaded for it, and here Peter joins his exhortation with those of the Master and the great apostle, "Grow in grace." "If we grow in grace," says Peter, "our reward will be multiplied" to his readers was his prayer in his first epistle. This constant emphasis of growth by the great Christian teacher is a proof of its necessity and importance. The word grace is an open invitation to all to grow in grace, and by obedience, by knowledge and by prayer to constantly "grow in grace."

The necessity of constant growth in grace lies in the fact that we cannot be born again until that time comes when grace could come in our lives when grace could not be multiplied in us, then the command to grow would be without meaning to us. But such a life is impossible in this world, at least in the sense of the word "growth." Paul, however, had peculiar devotion and zeal for three score years, and yet he knew nothing about the modern doctrine of perfectionism. Perfection is impossible this side of heaven, and therefore growth in grace is an imperative necessity until the end of time.

Growth in grace is a safeguard against the lack of steadfastness. "Be ware," says the apostle, "lest ye also, being led away by the wicked, fall from your own steadfastness." (But that you may not fall) grow in grace." Growth is absolutely necessary to steadfastness. We cannot stand still in the Christian life and character. We will grow in grace, and, as we grow, we do not decline, but may be steadfast and immovable, we should constantly advance in grace and in service "till we come in the unity of the faith and of the knowledge of the Son of God unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of Christ." This is the goal toward which we strive. All the means of grace are for "the perfecting of the saints," which goes on until the end of life, when "the number of believers are made perfect in holiness and do immediately pass into glory."

PEACE.

Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on Thee—Isa. XXXV, 5.

Looking down from a height on a broad river that is so peaceful it reflects all the boats floating upon its surface and the overhanging foliage lining its banks, we get a picture of a beautiful illustration of the quiet of the human heart! The stream is calm now, but is quickly ruffled by a passing breeze, even growing into wild billows that dangerously toss every vessel that comes upon it. But when the mind is stayed on God, it is awed by passing breezes that blow from every quarter in this world where public opinion rules with such power, and, like the winds blowing over a river, hearts like the stream are easily disturbed.

But when the mind is stayed on God, then not only peace, but "perfect peace," is promised. What great rewards our Lord gives for our faith in Him! Surely they are from "His fingers of grace." The quiet of the heart is a peaceful amid trials of every kind, knowing by heart that the Lord overrules and that He is waiting to reveal hidden blessings while we wait before Him. Is the joy in peace, just as the fruit of the vine is the blossom. Our Father never bestows a lonely blessing. It is blessing within blessing always.—Presbyterian Banner.

REconciled to God.

The shame and curse of the world is alienation from God. Alienation and estrangement is the curse of human degradation and misery, and a supreme duty and a high and peculiar privilege of the followers of Christ to be reconciled to God. In Christ's stead we are reconciled to God. This age opens the path to reconciliation; this reconciliation has led through the gate of repentance; it has been the result of being born again by the spirit of God, which has made an unlawful human soul a lover of God and the servant of Christ.—Christian Intelligencer (Baptist).

A Rule of Life.

To work hard and follow earnest truth, to rest with a childlike confidence in God's guidance, to leave our lot willingly and heartily to Him, this is my sermon to myself. If we could live more within sight of heaven, we should care less for the turnings of earth.—Letters of John Richard Green.

Give Him the Best Part.

Would our friends love us very much if we gave out to them what we have? Let us do more in the world when we are joyful, and so does Jesus. Let us give Him them, the best part of our natures, and we will be rewarded—Presbyterian Journal.
